

Human values and professional ethics

The management of the college instils a sense of belongingness among the employees and students of the college by the traditional value system adopted by the executive body of the college. The value system manifests in the form of various opportunities for recognitions, improvements and expression of gratitude. The senior management provide opportunities for all to express themselves in the most natural way that are formal and informal.

Every member of the college is bound by broad guidelines of ethical behaviour in their functioning. These include but not limited to, teaching, evaluation, and usage of funds and the brand name of the organisation. They are sensitised on IPRs, copy rights and plagiarism. The administration takes serious note on deviations on ethical behaviour. The activities of the college are defined in such a way that the chances to deviate from ethical practices are minimised. Adequate training is arranged for faculty members and staff on these issues periodically.
